5. They gladly bear the cross of Jesus,
Fear not its burden or distress;
Beneath it pride and envy ceases,
It leaves no time for idleness.
Although at times they feel discouraged,
They look upon their pilgrim way
To Christ, their Saviour, and their stay,
And bear their load, renewed with courage.
6. Thus gladly they pursue their journey,
Serene and joyful day by day;
They stand in Jesus' care and keeping,
Refreshed by His word on their way.
Then flow, ye tears, though oft in sadness,
Yet fruits of sweetness shall arise,
For out of love's sweet paradise
Flows comfort, causing tears of gladness.
